

Class Agents Letter

Class of 1991

Class Agents

Kip Aitken

Mike Langford

Erik Dafforn

Alumni & Affinity Group Engagement Office

301 W. Wabash Ave.

Crawfordsville, IN 47933

765-361-6360

alumni@wabash.edu

wabash.edu

I hope 2023 was a good year for all of you, and let's hope 2024 is even better.

In December, Wabash received a $25 million five foundation gift to the College.

_____, which prompted a Board of Trustees vote at their January meeting to raze the Sparks Center. Destruction right after Big Bash

million incorporati

Naming opportunities are available, so maybe we can recruiting

e College know if you are interested in sponsoring or participating in a challenge fundraising efforts

lars and the percentage of participation is corporations and foundations

like the huge gift just given from the Lilly

1,679,438 on last year's Day of Giving; 3,573 unique donors gave 6,939 gifts.

highest number of gifts, trailing only the classes of 1979 and 1966.

noticed the Wabash Tennis Team was competing against Augustana right here

Wabash competing in any sport in our little, non house for a dinner the evening before the match and treated the team to lunch afterward.

experience, and I encourage any of you to reach out to the coaches if an athletic team happens to be passing

any) contact with current Little Giants, I'm happy to report that Wabash Gentlemen are still Wabash Gentlemen.

was in this generation as compared to ours, and I was impressed.

The Little Giant Basketball team won both the NCAC conference regular season and tournament championships and qualified for the NCAA Division III National Tournament in the first round, 79

Fewer men are choosing to attend a four
To illustrate, Wabash has approximately the same number of students admitted each year.
ed to a 12% market share of Indiana males attending a college or university.

continuing to shrink.

Admissions office

in the recruiting